

Jack Whitehall

Comedian, Actor & TV Presenter

"This hip, young star is rising so fast he is in danger of getting the bends" Evening Standard

As a successful and much sought-after stand up, actor, writer and presenter, Jack Whitehall has firmly established himself as one of the UK's most exciting and successful comedy talents, having won numerous British Comedy Awards. A talented actor, Jack received critical acclaim for his role in the hit C4 comedy drama Fresh Meat.

TOPICS:

- o Comedy
- o Host
- o Presenter
- o Entertainment
- o Awards
- o After Dinner Speaker

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

In 2012 Jack created hit school-based sitcom Bad Education, which concluded in 2014 after three critically-acclaimed series. Jack starred in the show as hapless history teacher Alfie Wickers alongside a stellar cast including Matthew Horne and Harry Enfield. It was nominated in 2013 for Best Sitcom at the British Comedy Awards and was subsequently made into a film. Jack also hosts his own chat show with his father Michael Whitehall on BBC 3 entitled Backchat and is a regular panellist for Sky 1's A League of Their Own. Other recent television appearances include QI, Big Fat Quiz of the Year, The Graham Norton Show, Sunday Night at the Palladium and Have I Got News For You. Jack also tours regularly around the UK.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Whether Jack Whitehall is presenting or entertaining his audiences with hilarious comedy, he has inventive, well-written routines and a brilliant command of the language, able to conjure up just the right image at the right time. He's a brilliant, intelligent, educated and sharp witted comedian who has quickly become a household name.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

With his genuinely funny and likeable stage personality, Jack Whitehall's relentless swell of energy sweeps even the most curmudgeonly up in its wake. He's a newcomer with the poise of an old timer.