Jillian Kowalchuk

Founder & CEO of Safe & The City

"A leading voice in shaping the future of AI"

Jillian Kowalchuk is an award-winning social entrepreneur and leadership coach. She is the Founder & CEO of Safe & The City, one of London's fastest-growing technology and data intelligence companies. Their consumer safety navigation app and software-as-a-service help more platforms design safety into their technologies in both digital and physical spaces.

TOPICS:

○ Social Entrepreneurship and Technology

○ Leadership and Influence

○ Women in STEM and Tech4Good

○ Ethical AI and Responsible Use

○ Human Rights & Gender Equality

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2021   Wired Influence: Make Tech Work for you Again

IN DETAIL:

After a near sexual assault experience in London, whilst following a navigation app, the idea for Safe & the City came to her in recognising the patterns of unreported experience in public spaces and the power unlocked by citizens reporting through everyday technologies to create safer, more inclusive spaces. Jillian has received widespread recognition for her work. In 2018, she became one out of 100 women to have ever received the UK Home Office's Exceptional Talent in Technology, was named the Commonwealth Businesswomen's Network's Most Inspiring Role Model, named a Top 20 Women in Data in the UK and was awarded the JCI Contribution to Human Rights in the UK. She holds an MSc in Public Health and a BA in Psychology.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Jillian speaks with vulnerability and passion and delivers a message of hope to motivate others to take innovative action to solve meaningful problems. She teaches audiences the principles she has learned to inspire your journey to becoming as impactful as can be with your time.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Inspire, interact, and learn with Jillian's approach turning difficult, but crucial conversations into lasting changes within your organisation.